THE STORY: Patience Mond, primly brought up by two maiden aunts, is in love with Paul Taylor, whom her aunts have forbidden her to see because they have never been properly introduced. Charlotte, Patience's twin sister whom she has not seen since childhood, is a stage star rehearsing a show in London. She invites Patience to spend a day with her, dresses her smartly from her own wardrobe. Patience meets Roger Dick, a popular actor and Charlotte's boyfriend. She sees him again. They quarrel. A few days later Charlotte invites Patience to the opening of her new show and to stay overnight with her. Patience wears an evening gown of Charlotte's, looks almost exactly like her. She sits in a stage box with Roger Dickson. Just before the house lights dim, she sees Paul in the audience.

XVIII
Patience forced Paul from her mind. She wanted to concentrate all her attention on the performance that was now starting. "The setting was an Alpine village. There was a back cloth of mountains, white with snow, and then just rising above them, Dawn was breaking in a party of travelers were trooping home, dancing as they went, singing gay lilting songs. Patience watched spellbound as scene followed scene. And then at last it was almost time. Charlotte's entrance. Roger whispered, "She'll be on in a moment now." Patience sat forward in her chair, her hands gripping the front of the box. The chorus was fading through the various exits. The stage was bare. The music subsided and then rose and swelled again in a galaxy of sound and there was Charlotte with Carl Bruner, her partner, the lights focused on them. Patience held her breath. She thought she'd never seen anyone more beautiful. And then, involuntarily, she hoped Aunt Helen and Aunt Alice would insist on coming to see her. For Charlotte was wearing so little. The briefest chiffon draperies. They were lovely, but her aunts most certainly wouldn't approve. But now watching her, Patience forgot her aunts, forgot everything and everything but Charlotte. Her dancing was exquisite. Never had she seen anyone so graceful, so full of the very essence of music and poetry.

At last it was over. The audience thundered their applause. Patience clapped till her hands were sore with clapping. "Like it?" asked Roger, smiling at her excitement. "It's wonderful. "She'll be on again in the second act."

During the interval they went into the bar to try and get some refreshment. There was a host of people wanting to talk to Roger. Smiling at Patience in the friendliest way as he introduced her. "This is Charlotte's sister." Some of them said that they didn't know Charlotte had one. And others that

Dr. Henry T. Ward, department head, said stops will include Little Rock, Bauxite, Malvern, El Dorado, Crossett, and Pine Bluff.

Little Rock, April 17 (AP)—More doctors for general practice and fewer specialists are sought for this state by the Arkansas Medical Society.

The society, in convention here, has established a new organization dedicated to that goal. It is the Arkansas Academy of General Practice, a branch of the American Academy of General Practice.

The academy will seek to encourage and assist young men and women to enter general practice and will assist in providing postgraduate study for general practitioners.

Dr. Fount Richardson of Fayetteville was elected president of the academy.

week. "I certainly don't intend to leave."

Lane declined to comment on the report that he may leave the Mississippi county when he leaves the governor's office.

The highway department is ready to modernize the Norfolk Lake ferries just as soon as a federal agency approves.

Director J. C. Baker has purchased four Army surplus walkie-talkie radio sets which will be installed on the two ferries which cross the lake as parts of Highways 62 and 61. He has asked the Federal Communications Commission for permission to use the sets.

Baker said the radios would not have prevented the tragedy last week in which Mrs. Melvin Brown of Peach Valley, Mo., died but they would have facilitated the recovery of her body. Mrs. Brown failed and the brakes of her car slipped into 30 feet of water.

The radios are expected to aid in the 1-1/4 mile crossing in foggy and rainy weather. At present the radio communications between bank of the lake is by boat.

Highway Commissioner E. C. Rider of Batesville realized that other commissioners would enjoy a deal meal after meeting with the Tennessee group in Memphis last week. So he asked Commissioner Secretary Neil Bohlinger to notify them that he would be host.

Bohlinger, a southern gentleman with a flair for words, wrote in effect that "one of our commissioners and useful commissioners has graciously volunteered a free meal. He did not think it necessary to notify the riders' name."

A few days later, Bohlinger received a telephone call from another eastern Arkansas commissioner with the question:

"Where do you want me to serve that meal?"

Workmen Begin

Rebuilding Bogota

By EWALD ALMEN

Bogota, Colombia, April 16 (AP)—Workmen started to rebuild their jobs today in wrecked Bogota in response to a Colombian Workers Federation proclamation ending the general strike which attended the labor union's last week.

The labor union's appeal to the workers to cooperate with the government in cleaning up the capital and other cities damaged last by the rebellion touched off by the assassination of Liberal party leader Jorge Eliécer Gaitan.

Workmen used bulldozers to clear the rubble of wrecked, charred buildings. In Bogota, 100 street cleaners attacked the debris-littered streets.

The city still is patrolled by the army, but there are increasing signs of returning normalcy. Some additional stores and offices reopened. Banks were open again with long lines outside. Some suburban buses were operating, and rail service was almost normal.

Trolley service, however, has been smashed almost beyond repair.

Woman, 15th

Wife, Gets Annulment

Los Angeles, April 17 (AP)—Mrs. Irene C. Shale Mantz, 72, got an annulment all right after the ruling judge said she was William Mantz's 15th wife.

And Mantz, 65, got an earful from the judge.

"It seems a shame that a woman of her age should be permitted to live with a declared superior judge," declared Judge Ingall Bull. "His place is in prison."

The court also had strong words for the county charity department which admitted paying relief checks to Mantz for about a year.

"I had to pay for the license and for the justice who married us," Mrs. Mantz testified.

Parasitic Parents

Are you a parasite upon your children? Do you prey upon your young? Do you monopolize those you love and who interest you, without thinking of their happiness and welfare? Parasitism is a vice into which it is very easy for parents to fall.

There are many fathers and mothers, for instance, who deliberately plan to make their children support them when they are old. They make plenty of money to provide for their old age, if they choose to have their children live on them, but they are too self-indulgent to do so. They spend as they go along, taking no thought of the morrow, because when they are old and their earning days are over they can always go and live on the children.

They never think what a hardship this practically always works on the children. They never think of the privations it means to a daughter, earning a small salary, to have to divide her meager wage with father and mother. They never think what a crushing burden they are to the son, who is just getting a start in the world, and who has all that he can do already to support his wife and babies.

Of course, it is true that in many cases the parents always live on the ragged edge of want and cannot put anything aside for their old age. Then naturally the children are under every obligation to support them, and it is their duty to take care of them in their declining years.

Quitters
Nearly all parents who go to live with their children are quitters who give up too soon. Most of them have twenty years more of good work in them if they only had the will to struggle on and be independent. But their children offer such an easy avenue of escape from the daily grind that they take it, without giving a thought to the burden they are laying upon them.

It is oftenest mothers who are spiritual parasites upon their children. Mother may have plenty of money to maintain her own establishment.

Another Selection of Top Teams

By CARL LUNDQUIST
New York, April 17 — (UP) — It's like trying to hit two eight-ball balls at once but at odds of 65 to 1 the price is right, so here goes another whirl today at trying to pick the pennant winners and the way the teams are likely to come in behind them next October.

On the basis of solid starting lineups plus capable reserves it looks like the New York Yankees to defend their world championship against the Boston Braves.

And if they fail it still could be an Eastern shore "commuters" series with the Boston Red Sox and Brooklyn Dodgers stepping in.

From top to bottom it looks like stirring races all the way beginning next Monday, and from here it seems reasonable the teams might finish up like this:

American League
1—New York.
2—Boston.
3—Cleveland.
4—Detroit.
5—Philadelphia
6—Washington.
7—St. Louis.
8—Chicago.
9—Chicago.
10—National League

National League
1—Boston.
2—Brooklyn.
3—Pittsburgh.
4—St. Louis.
5—New York.
6—Cincinnati.
7—Philadelphia.
8—Chicago.
9—Chicago.
10—National League

The Yankees, newest world champs, and the Braves, who have gone longer than any other major league team without a pennant, or since 1914, have all the things a team requires, powerful hitting, good fielding, strong arm pitching and excellent reserves.

Both the Red Sox and Dodgers have strong following but both have major problems. With the Red Sox it is being asked, will Joe McCarthy be able to return after a year as a gentleman farmer and make a temperamental crew click, will Ted Williams be in top physical condition, and how about those sore arm pitchers of yesterday?

Brooklyn followers want to know who is going to take the places of Dixie Walker and Eddie Stanky, and if the club isn't a little top heavy with greenhorn kids of potential stardom who lack steadiness?

The third choice teams, the Pirates and Indians, admittedly are dark horse choices, but who have rebuilt so efficiently that they seem likely to be contenders all the way. Pittsburgh, with Bill Meyer, long noted as the best manager in the minors, has the most improved club in baseball.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Hugh G. Fullerton, Jr.

Virginia Beach, Va., April 17 — (AP) — There must be something sadistic about golf galleries. . . Nothing seems to delight the fans more than seeing one of the "name" stars get into trouble and out of it.

The select 15 who started yesterday in the Cavalier club's "specialists" tournaments provided plenty of entertainment for comparatively few spectators in both the morning and afternoon.

On the basis of solid starting lineups plus capable reserves it looks like the New York Yankees to defend their world championship against the Boston Braves.

52,791 Attend Opening of Southern Loop

By The Associated Press
A combined attendance of 52,791 witnessed Friday's opening games in the Southern Association with 32,991 of the fans jammed into Atlanta's park. The teams were idle today, but play doubleheaders Sunday.

Last year, the clubs played to only 32,567 on opening day. The crowd at Atlanta, largest for the club and second largest in the league's history, was not disappointed for the Crackers swarmed over Birmingham, 11-5, scoring 10 runs in the last three innings.

A total of 27 pitchers saw service for the eight teams, with only Jim Atkins of New Orleans going all the way. Atkins held Mobile, the defending champion, to six hits as the Pels scored an 8-6 victory before 9,850.

Nine hurlers performed for 9,222 fans at Nashville, six for the home club as the Chattanooga Lookouts came from behind with two runs in the ninth to edge the Vols, 15-14. That was the only day game on the schedule.

Memphis won a wild contest from Little Rock, 13-10, after blowing a five-run lead amassed in the first inning. The Travelers led, 10-7, going into the seventh when Memphis scored three times. The Cubs got three more in the eighth. Billy Briggs was the winning pitcher and Bob Snyder the victim, as 11,907 watched.
